难忘的一件事英语作文1

Among all the unforgettable experiences in my life when I ' am looking back on those beautiful old days with fulfillment , there ' s one thing that I ' am proud of most. Whenever thinking of it, I would find myself happier and more confident than ever.

It was on a fine autumn afternoon when I was still a teenager. I noticed an old grandma sitting silently under a tall tree in front of her house, looking rather sad and lonely. I went to have a chat with her. After our short conversation, I got to know that all the old women ' s sons and daughters were far away from her, making their lives in big cities and she felt lonely. I felt sympathetic for her, and I realized that there were actually many old people like her in the village. So a good idea occurred to me suddenly.

I gathered my friends, and organized them to visit there old people one by one. We sang songs, danced and told jokes to them, which made them happy. One of them was so moved that tears fell down.

Caring for those around us and passing our happiness to others are what I have learnt that day. I made it, and I feel really proud of myself that gave comfort to those who needed most.

难忘的一件事英语作文2

How time flies!! ' m fifteen years now. During the long time , there was one thing that I will never forget.

The Spring Festival is our traditional festival. During the Spring Festival , people usually visit their friends and relatives. When I was 9 years old , my family took the bus to my grandparents ' to say " Happy New Year " to them.

In the bus , I had a good seat.At 7:30 , the bus came to a village.A woman got on with a baby in her arms.At that time , there was no seat.But she must look after her baby carefully.She had to stand next to me.I wanted to stand up and let her sit down , but I was afraid of hearing the other people say “ That girl want to be praised. ” I looked around.Most people were looking out of the windows and some were sleeping.Suddenly , a little boy behind me , stood up and made room for the woman.She said “ Thank you very much ” with a big smile.The boy smiled , too.When I told my cousin about it after that , he said “ The child is the father of a man. ” I ’ m very ashamed.Why could ’ t I do the same thing as the little boy did?

From that I learn that we should do our best to help people who need help.If everyone makes a contribution to helping others , the world will become much more beautiful!

In my mind there is a most memorable things,though it had so long time,but to this day,I still cant forget.

Remember that it was a rainy day,I go to school in the morning when the day did not have,so they also didnt take my umbrella,who knows to afternoon when school was over,it was already rain.How to do,I was alone in the classroom,at this time my good friend little red appear in my in front,is she put me back to home.Finally,I didnt know I was she sent the first ten students.

难忘的一件事英语作文4

Today is Monday. I got up at 6:30 a.m.. Then I washed my face and ate breakfast. Milk, bread, egg and porridge are my favorites. My mother always gets up early and cooks for me. This morning, I drank a cup of milk and ate bread and an egg. After breakfast, I went to school at 7:00. School started at 7:50 and I usually get there at 7:30. I had English, history, math and geography in the morning. I liked English very much, because my English teacher is very nice. After school in the morning, I went home at 11:30. Then I ate lunch and then had a short rest. I went to school at 14:00. In the afternoon, I had four classes: music, biology, and two periods of Chinese. I liked Chinese, too, because Chinese is our national language and its very beautiful. After school, I went home for dinner. After dinner, I spent half and an hour in my homework. Then I watched TV and played computer games.

难忘的一件事英语作文5

In my colorful life, the most memorable thing is to learn to swim, that is the first time I learn to swim.

Last year, my father and I came to the swimming pool early in the morning. In the locker room for swimwear, I took the swimming pool can not wait to come to the pool side. See many people free to swim in the water, do not mind how much envy.

I also want to swim, but my heart is afraid. Suddenly heard "splash" sound, saw my father jumped into the water, my father swim very quickly, and soon swim to the other side. Daddy came back to me and said: "Do not be afraid, my father to teach you." I listened to my fathers words, carefully into the water, hands and feet in the water do not listen to the call, choked a few saliva, really uncomfortable. Dad said to me: "your hands hard to slide back and forth, feet back pedal." I am under the guidance of my father, practicing a whole morning, finally learned to swim, and my heart was very happy.

This thing makes me understand the truth: the world is not difficult, I am afraid there are people.

In my growth process, there are many unforgettable things, these things like a piercing night sky meteor. One of these things left me with a very deep impression.

It was at the weekend, I and a few children are playing, there is a child want to play hide and seek with me, I do not want to play hide and seek with the children, they hit him, the child cried. Did not think that the little friend told me this thing my father. I just came home dad asked me; "you are not bullying children?" I said: "No!" Dads look becomes serious, I am somewhat disturbed, thinking: I should not tell things to my father. The Dad said: "Since you did not bully the children to write homework." Write homework when I thought: I have been lying, I should not tell things to my father, my father will not criticize me. I am brave to tell the story of the father, the results of my father not only did not criticize me, but also praise I am an honest child.

Although this thing has passed for a long time, but I do not forget how. This one thing let me know how not to bully children, to be an honest child.

On our growing path, there will always be a lot of memorable things that happened last year, and I think I will never forget.

It was in the last summer, my toothache was sleep well, food is not fragrant ... Oh, it is really uncomfortable! Mom took me to the Hangzhou Stomatological Hospital. I walked into the hospital door, could not help but stunned: several children, are burst into tears, and then look at the hands of the doctors tool: what syringes Yeah, tweezers ah, bit ah, vise ah ... my God, which can be called a dental hospital? Obviously an electrical repair station. So a look, I am sober to immediately escape the dentistry. Suddenly, listen to the doctor cried: "31, fill the teeth!" To me, I stared at that, the heart kept jumping. I comfort myself, immediately like, and then a bit will be passed.

Began to treat, my two hands firmly grasp the chair handle. The doctor holding, aimed at my sinking teeth drilled up, drilled ah drill ah ... I think that sockyard sour, as if eating an unripe strawberries, can not tell the uncomfortable. Finally, after ten minutes, the doctor picked up the dentifrice and filled the saddle hole, and then said to me, "Okay!" I jumped from the chair like a bird that was back to nature. Down.

This painful experience, let me understand, care about how important the teeth, this teeth so that I will never forget the event!

I am sure the world every father and mother love their children, my father and mother is no exception, writing an unforgettable thing. They love me everywhere, there is one thing that makes me unforgettable.

It was a stormy night, I suddenly made a high fever, but also accompanied by vomiting. My mother a look, frightened, and quickly called my father immediately back with a four-year-old brother, he picked up an umbrella carrying me out running. At that time has been very late, the road pedestrians and buses are very few, finally wait until a bus, but not crowded up. Mom had to carry me, hold up the umbrella to the hospital to run. Finally to the hospital, and I stumbled open eyes and found her mother head full of water droplets. Originally, my mother in order not to let me rain, put the umbrella are to my side to support. Looking at the look of anxious mom, my heart there is a kind of happiness can not tell.

After treatment, my high fever finally back. Mom and Dads face showing a smile. Mom and Dad, thank you for your meticulous care, I will be with excellent results to return to you!

难忘的一件事英语作文10

since I can remember, there are many things have been gradually forgotten, but there is one thing that I will always remember.

I was in junior high school; my brother was a player of the school football team, so in extracurricular time I also often play football with my brother. But I have never played football game, because I never believe in my strength. Once the football team of our school and other schools plan to a game, but there is one player didnt come. My brother see me sitting near the stadium, my brother pulled me into the stadium, I was very nervous in the face of the game. After the match began, I made many mistakes, we were given a penalty kick at the end of the half-court, I just want to go outside to find water to drink, I become stupefied when my brother let me penalty kick, but a lot of players were very confident to me, I couldnt believe my eyes, The football rolled into the goal. I feel very excited for the goal, my scoring let me find the confidence.

Although we lost the game, but later I completely in love with the football, the penalty kick let me find the confidence, thank you for the penalty kick, thank you for my brother.
